This week: "Did You Know?"

This week in Fairhope's history is one of the most important in terms of Fairhope's founding story. In the spirit of "Let's Go! Fairhope" events, January 4th essentially marks the anniversary of the beginning of the beginning of what would become known as Fairhope, Alabama. While we acknowledge our town's birthday on November 15, 1894, an important meeting took place a little over 10 months earlier, on January 4th, in Des Moines, Iowa. Thanks to the Fairhope Single Tax Corporation archives, we know the following: On Thursday, January 4th, 1894, at the office of E. B. Gaston, Room 8 over 312 West Sixth Street... "a number of persons interested in the subject of cooperation" assembled "to consider the organization of a cooperative colony or community." In this meeting, a motion was made by a group member, and five attendees were appointed to oversee preparations of a constitution, by laws, and articles of incorporation. About a month after this meeting, the group would officially become known as the Fairhope Industrial Association. By mid-November, a group of 28 people—including 9 children—arrived on the Eastern Shore of Mobile Bay to break ground on their new, ideal community.

There was indeed a Fair-Hope of success!
